DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-12, and 14-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Sterzel US 2003/0215384.

Sterzel teaches a process for preparing barium titanate or strontium titanate by reacting titanium alkoxides (Paragraph 11) with barium hydroxide hydrate or strontium hydroxide hydrate (Paragraph 10) in a C1-C8-alcohol (Paragraph 12) or a glycol ether (Paragraph 13).

Art Unit: 1793

Claims 1-12, and 14-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Hirai US 6051614.

Hirai teaches a process, wherein metallic barium is dissolved in isopropanol then reacted with titanium isopropoxide in the presence of tert-amylalcohol (Example 34).

Claims 1-10, 12, and 14-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Watari US 2002/0110475.

Watari teaches a process of making barium titanate, wherein a mixture of metallic barium, titanium isopropoxide, acetylacetone, and isopropyl alcohol is reacted (Example 3).

Claims 1-10, and 14-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Ying US 2002/0110519.

Ying teaches a process of making a barium-aluminum oxide, wherein metallic barium is added to 2-propanol and then reacted with aluminum isopropoxide (Example 2).

Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Sterzel US 2003/0215384, or Hirai US 6051614 or Watari US 2002/0110475, or Ying US 2002/0110519.

Sterzel, Hirai, Watari, and Ying do not teach the temperature is carried out at a temperature of 190 to 220 degrees C. However, at the time of invention it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to have determined the optimum value of a cause effective variable such as reaction temperature through routine experimentation in the absence of a showing of criticality.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 10/22/08 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues the prior art does not teach the use of an anhydrous solvent. In response, instant claim one is not limited to only use of anhydrous solvents. Claim 1 recites "in an anhydrous solvent or solvent mixture", which would include solvent mixtures comprising water.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
